Treaty Leak Starts Senate Storm

HITCHCOCK CALLS FOR INQUIRY

SAYS SENATORS' STATEMENTS ARE "MONSTROUS CHARGE."
CALLS IT ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

Lodge Brought To Feet By Insinuations On Floor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 5.—The leak in diplomatic channels through which it has been charged copies of the unpublished treaty with Germany reached certain interests in New York was the subject of another stormy debate today in the senate.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, in making up his resolution for a senate investigation, declared the statements of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, and Borah of Idaho, republican members of the committee, regarding the presence of copies of New York constituted a "monstrous charge." If this charge had been made in the interests of the public, he said, and not merely in order to attack the treaty, the senators making it would have demanded senatorial investigation. The speech drew replies from both Mr. Lodge and Mr. Borah.

Demands Investigation
"I presume," said Mr. Hitchcock, "that there will be no substantial objection to this proposal. It is a matter of the most tremendous urgency that investigation should be had of charges made by the responsible position in which they placed themselves by not asking an investigation."

A declaration by the Nebraska senator that Senators Lodge and Borah "insinuated" that they had been making the most scandalous charge, it appears to be a new chapter in the attack on country itself. It is a monstrous charge. Men who have demanded investigation that they had been making in the public interest and not for the purpose of hurting the treaty.

Senator Hitchcock declared that if New York interests had treaty copies, they are not in a closer communication with enemies of the treaty than with friends of the treaty.

"If he held the treaty in his hands," shouted Senator Hitchcock, "he had stolen goods; goods probably secured by bribery; goods which the American representatives in Paris promised not to make public. It is a strong statement for a senator of the United States to make that the president is with-holding copies of the treaty and allowing it to go somewhere else."

Senator Williams, democrat of Mississippi, referred to the refusal of George Washington to furnish the names of representatives with a copy of a treaty, to which Senator Borah, republican of Idaho said:

"Why quote George Washington? He have repudiated all of his doctrine. Senator Lodge said the senate was only asking for a public document and he would be 'delighted' to have the Hitchcock resolution passed."

WINNIPEG "VETS" AT HIGH HEAT OVER ALIENS IN STRIKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Winnipeg, Man., June 5.—Feeling among returned soldiers opposed to the general strike of Winnipeg, and particularly to the participation of alien enemies in strike demonstrations, was at fever heat this morning. Mayor Charles F. Gray was informed that a parade of several thousand soldiers intended to march in the streets and march to the strike headquarters, and demand that all aliens be ousted from the Winnipeg unions.

"I have heard it said that the soldiers are so incensed over the high-handed methods of strike leaders and insulting remarks made by James Duncan, the Seattle labor leader, yesterday, that they have threatened to wreck the labor temple, and make an example of the leaders," said Mayor Gray. "I shall urge the men to remember that law and order must be maintained."

Soldiers who attended the mass meeting where Duncan spoke yesterday declared he referred to the returned soldiers as a "bunch of ignorant amuses."

The city today took over the distribution of milk and was arranging to provide for bread distribution is necessary. It was reported that strike leaders were preparing to rescind their order of yesterday, ordering all union handlers of foodstuffs to go on strike.

Rumors were current on the streets and in local newspaper offices that the central strike committee was considering the advisability of calling off the sympathetic strike. It was stated at the board of trade that hundreds of union men were ready to return to work as soon as they were assured "adequate protection."

The strike situation seemed to be completely reversed. Labor leaders who have publicly and aggressively attempted to combat every federal and municipal attempt to restore tranquility in Winnipeg were asking "for protection." It was learned at the city hall.

PORTUGAL PRESIDENT OFFERS RESIGNATION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Lisbon, Wednesday, June 5.—President Castro presented his resignation to congress today. Congress, amid acclamations, voted to ask him to reconsider his action.

There have been serious disorders in Portugal during the last few months incident to a movement toward the re-establishment of a monarchy. The conservative parties being reported to have given the monarchists their moral support. It is probable that it was in connection with these disturbances that the Portuguese president decided to present his resignation.

C. OF C. TAKES PLEDGE FOR BETTER CITY

COMMERCE BODY HOLDS ENTHUSIASTIC ANNUAL MEETING.

MANAGER GREEN GIVES REPORT

Samson Tractor Sales Manager Congratulates Members On Good Work.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting and dinner last night enthusiastically received the report of the manager, Frank J. Green, and pledged themselves to continue the good work which has been done by the organization in the last 10 months. (The report in full will be found on another page.)

The following were elected directors: J. E. Aulen, William A. Victor, F. E. E. and L. Wilcox. Messrs. Aulen and McVicar succeed themselves and Messrs. Buss and Wilcox will fill the places of Sidney Bostwick and W. H. Dougherty.

John F. Aulen, president, complimented the members upon the success of the organization and expressed his pride in the work which had been accomplished. He made the following statement:

Cullen Makes Statement.
"We are rather proud, you and I, of the Janesville Chamber of Commerce in rounding out its first year of existence. I believe, however, that a record of which we may indeed be proud. Built upon a foundation of service the organization has been straight to the line. At no period has the ideal for which we are striving been lost sight of—a greater Janesville in all that the world implies."

"Determined that the city should be adequately prepared to cope with the problems confronting it, and that this community might be placed at least on a par with others, the American city bureau, in the spring of 1918, was engaged to create here a Chamber of Commerce. Four hundred members was the goal set. The close of the campaign found 640 memberships on the rolls. Notwithstanding that a number of deaths have occurred in addition to the normal loss, the membership rolls now record 704."

Engaged Manager.
"The directors engaged the services of a manager in July, 1918, and he, with the members cooperating, has developed the chamber to a point of usefulness that has made it an important link in the life of the community."

"The board of directors, my associates have given of their time and effort to the end that the greatest good for all might be attained. The Member's council has been to the various projects attempted."

"To my associates on the board: to all those who have served to the membership as a whole for its support, I wish to express my grateful appreciation."

"The year ahead holds much yet to be accomplished. That our ambition will be realized appears to me certain. I ask that whole-hearted support in the months to come."

Clark Congratulates Members.
W. L. Clark, sales manager of the Samson Tractor company, congratulated the membership and manager on the great work which had been accomplished in the short time the chamber had been in existence.

"I am not here to give you dollars," said Mr. Clark in discussing the aims of any civic body. "It is the satisfaction of knowing that service well given has had a good effect upon a community."

"One of the most important functions of an organization of this kind is the development of citizenship and in this body that effort is being made. Few men see the good in the work of a society. Many are inclined to look only at one side and that is the side that concerns them. They selfishly refuse to look at the other three sides which concern their fellows. They do not attempt to see what is of benefit."

RHINELAND BRIBED IS HUN CHARGE

FRENCH PROPAGANDA FUND FURTHERS MOVE, IS ALLEGATION.

RHENISH REPUBLIC STIRS UP FIGHT

Marshal Foch and Clemenceau Fostered Formation, It Is Claimed.

Berlin, Wednesday, June 4.—The French have a propaganda fund amounting to 10 million francs with which to further the movement for the establishment of a Rhineland republic, declares the correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger. This sum, he says, is being used principally in the Rhineland and palatine and it is being distributed to the French army in the form of a salary. The French army, who without doubt, he adds, "have been bribed."

Dr. Dornen who was named president of the new republic has issued two decrees to workers and to "officials of the Rhineland republic," it is said. The correspondent states that all the political parties in the Rhineland have united in protesting to the French against any violation of their right to self-determination and demanding the suppression and expulsion of the disturbers of the peace.

Forbids Strikes.
A proclamation by General Mangin, commander of the French army of occupation at Mayence, forbidding strikes against the Rhineland republic, and threatening leaders of any such movements with expulsion is published in the Frankfurt Gazette.

"The Rhinelanders have been discussing the interests of their fatherland for the past six months without disturbing public order," the proclamation says, "but now the German government threatens them with expulsion which will have complete freedom. There are no more strikes."

Foreigners which might occasion protests or strikes which disturb order and economic life."

Foch Was Approached.
Mannheim, Wednesday, June 4.—When the project of the Rhineland republic was first broached, the French government officials, through occupation officers and asked whether the Rhinelanders could work for a republic without the risk of being disciplined by Germany, according to the newspaper states that Marshal Foch and Premier Clemenceau sent a reply to the Rhinelanders that "the German government would never again have anything to do with the left bank of the Rhine and hence the propagandists could not be punished."

In publishing these facts the newspaper tells of a conference between Foch and a Herr Hoffmann, centrist members of the national assembly, with General Gerard of the French army on March 8. It is said that General Gerard was told that the people of the Rhine province were overwhelmingly in favor of an independent state but were unable to work for its promotion because of their fear of the German government.

Marshal Foch is quoted as saying, in addition: "The population of the left bank of the Rhine may say and think what it likes but the establishment of a republic in the Rhineland is inevitable and above all the Germans will not be permitted to have anything to say about the left bank of the Rhine."

It is further suggested that France will help the new republic economically so as to lighten the financial indemnity chargeable to the Palatinate. Several independent states in the Rhineland are being formed, according to the newspaper, that he would relieve their electors from the necessity of paying indemnity.

BODIES OF MEN BLOWN INTO BITS; FIRE RAGES

FRIGHTFUL DEATH SCENE IN TUNNEL AT WILKES-BARRE.

STATE MINE LAWS VIOLATED, CHARGE

Return Of Soldiers Followed By Terror; Crowds Shrink and Cry.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 5.—Seventy-eight mine workers were killed and thirty-one injured at the Baltimore No. 2 tunnel of the Delaware and Hudson company near here today. A car of black powder attached to cars on which the men were riding to their chambers in the mine exploded.

The trolley wire broke and sparks ignited the electric power. Men were blown everywhere, but most of the deaths were caused by fire and suffocation.

The accident occurred shortly before 7 o'clock. A train of empty cars was sent to the mouth of the tunnel to take the men into the chambers. One hundred men piled into the cars, which were drawn by an electric motor. Near the end of the train was a car of black powder.

Trolley Wire Breaks.
When 200 feet in the tunnel the trolley wire broke and fell. Sparks ignited the powder and instantly there was an explosion that sent the bodies of men flying in all directions. "Flames caused the greater loss of life, many of the bodies being burned to a crisp. Other men who were burned and were trying to reach safety died of suffocation."

East end last night was the scene of great gaiety. That section of the city welcomed home boys from the 31st field artillery. Bands were out, flags were flying, red fire burned. Within 12 hours the joy of the soldiers turned into despair. Their fathers were among the dead.

Identification of the bodies is almost impossible. Many of them are badly mangled. The limbs of some, the heads of others are missing. The death list is rapidly growing. As the bodies are removed from the mine, living and dead are piled on one another in the colliery. Many of the injured lived but a short time. Hundreds of women, men and children gathered about the tunnel, crying and crying they fled in the darkness from the sight. Women fainted; men lost their nerve, and children ran away in fright. The bodies of scores have been removed.

Efforts to identify the bodies is being carried out with little success. Brave men and women are seeking to aid the relatives to give them news but the scene is pitiful.

Flames Kill Tunnel.
The death list was made large by the flames and the sulphur fumes which filled the tunnel. The fire did not last long but it was long enough to make a heavy death toll. Many of the men were killed outright, parts of bodies being found in the wreckage of life and property.

Rescuers got into the mine with hoses and played streams of water on the flames. While they were doing this the cries of the dying and the injured were heard above the roar of the flames.

Today's accident is a direct result of violation of the law, is the charge. It is a violation of the mine law to carry powder and other explosives to a workman's passageway and other explosives must be transported alone. There were a dozen kegs of powder in one of the rear cars, all of which were exploded.

State and state officials were on the scene promptly, their efforts being directed solely to the work of rescue. There were enough men to meet all needs for the work of the mine, but the chief trouble during the hours was in getting nurses, doctors and supplies.

"In your city planning you have taken a step which will bring untold re-suits for good. It is most important at this time when we are just entering on a development which will bring to us many problems. With a city plan and a generous outlay for the future, these difficulties can be met with greater ease than if things were allowed to shape their own course.

"The hope of this organization is in the unselfish devotion of each member to its ideals. Keeping that devotion ever alive will assure a successful, energetic body of which the community can well be proud."

Mr. H. H. Doughterty, president of the chamber, in his address, discussed the work that has been done. There is nothing spectacular about the work that has been done. The daily service is given and that is what counts.

Mayor T. E. Welsh was called upon by Toastmaster W. H. Doughterty and in responding assured the chamber that the city officials would continue to cooperate in every way to make Janesville bigger and better.

Response to Toast
Others who responded to toasts were Supt. H. E. Farnham, Rev. J. A.
Meier, and Mrs. Abbie Helms.

Mrs. Helms declared that the women were ready to start out at once to collect funds for a community building in which the women could have comfortable quarters.

"It has long been the dream of the women to have a building that we can call our own and we are ready to enter any campaign which will make such a place possible," said Mrs.
Helms.

W. H. Doughterty was elected chairman of the members' council, but he declared that he would resign as he could not devote the time necessary to the work at this time. It is probable that the new board of directors which meets at 4:30 o'clock, will name
Mr. Doughterty's successor.

78 DIE IN MINE EXPLOSION IN EAST; BODIES FLY IN BITS

Some of the first bodies brought from the tunnel were burning when they reached the surface. The bodies had been burned away and the flesh was roasting from the intense heat.

Company employees state that there is a "pull" of 185,000 cubic feet of air per minute in the tunnel and the power pulled in the tunnel was the power pulled in the mine. Along the sides of the tunnel there is a creek and at the flash of flames some men who were walking along the side of the trip of the tunnel dropped into the water and saved their lives.

Several employees state that it was not the force of the explosion that killed the men. Flashes and lack of air caused the fatalities. All admit that the accident was the result of a violation of the law but they state that miners are accustomed to these violations.

Survivor Tells of Blast Thomas Dougherty, a miner, one of the survivors was thrown out of a car by the blast and saved himself by jumping into a ditch. He said he was riding along about 50 feet in the tunnel. There was a blinding flash. I was thrown from my car. I saw the water and I hurried myself into it. Bodies were all about. Some I knew were dead, others were crying.
The flames were terrific. They were all about. We were in a veritable hell.
No man could possibly hope to escape
with his life unless he got in the water. I saw his face and rolled over and over as I did. There was powder in the air. There were about 10 kegs and besides there were kegs of coal by the mine. Of course I do not know what the men thought but I believe the trolley wire broke and that sparks ignited
the powder.

It seems like the irony of fate that over the mouth of the tunnel in great white letters are painted the words
"Safety first."

PEACE —and— WAR

(By Associated Press.)

Austria's attitude toward the peace terms has not been officially made known to the allied nations. Advances from Vienna, however, carry reports of official dissatisfaction with the provisions and a chorus of newspaper dis-approbation. There are indications, nevertheless, that the people as a whole are somewhat lethargic.

Completion of the peace treaty, several clauses of which were missing in Monday's presentation, is not likely to occur this week, although the peace conference leaders are giving daily attention to the matter. There is a mission to the matter, are likely to be transmitted by note, as they become completed.

Modifications in the peace terms with Germany seem to be approaching definite form, according to advices from Paris. These alterations, it is said, are not planned primarily to make the terms lighter for the Germans but to render them easier of execution.

Apparently there is a disposition on the part of President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau to make a definite sum of approximately $25,000,000,000 as the amount of indemnity Germany will be called upon to pay and it seems possible that the first installment of about $5,000, 000,000 may not have to be paid within two years, as now stipulated, but within four years. The terms relative to Silesia and the Saar regions, too, may be altered. There seem to be a general agreement that Germany will not be permitted to enter the league of nations at once.

The establishment of the Rhenish republic is not looked upon seriously in American circles at the peace conference, it is said. It is pointed out that no prominent men in the Rhenish land are identified with the republic.
Disparages from German sources claim that the French authorities have taken a prominent role in the setting up of the new government.

President Wilson is likely to go to Brussels next week on his long suffered visit to Belgium. The specific dates mentioned in Brussels dispatches are characterized in Paris as inaccurate. There is as yet no intimation as to the date he plans to set out, although his departure from Washington, has been ordered to be ready to steam for the United States on 12 hours notice anytime after midnight.

Yugo-Slav forces which are invading the province of Carinthia are reported to be advancing, the village of Vol-kmarkt, northeast of Klagenfurt, capital of Carinthia, having been captured by the Austrian troops defending it.

The reported capture of Petrograd, which was announced in a telegram from Petrograd to Copenhagen, seems to be without foundation. Estonian forces are quite a distance west of the former Russian capital and are being subjected to heavy attacks by the Bolsheviki over a wide front.

The lovely and gorgeous satin ribbons has brought the sash back as one of the newest and most popular of the season's dress accessories. It is a glorified sash, indeed, never content to be just one color, but generally mounted on a rock of neutral tone which called for several shades of harmonizing color. A new sort of heavy satin ribbon having been brought out, this is made up in huge sashes and bows for summer frocks.

Indeed, the bigger the bow, the wider the sash, the newer the gown. There is such an art in tying a bow that certain young women skillful at this are developing a new trade as they spend their time making and arranging the splendid sashes which are ranging the newest gowns in the great wholesale houses and sent out as models for the retail trade.

Few women can resist a sash because women inherit love of color. It is a delight to place side by side two or more shades and feel that one has accomplished something new in the way of color combinations.

As lovely as are the ribbons, though, they by no means monopolize everything, for many of the newest sashes are made of tulle and edged with tiny flowers.

Tied in a great fluffy bow at the back and threaded with small blue soles, some youthful dancing frocks have attained a charm indescribable. Fine laces, too, are being treated in this same sort of way, tied in bows at the side or back and picked out along the edges with tiny flowers and bright and scintillating beads or bits of jet.

Here are four of the most radiant dogs running at large. City Clerk Hemming said, "and licenses must be secured for them."

Chief William Gower again asserted that the dog owners should make application for licenses for their canines once. He said that it was not a matter for the police to call up each dog owner and inform him that it was time to secure a license. City Clerk Hemming said 98 licenses have been granted.

Gen. Joshua Hodgins Dies in Marinette

[AT ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Marinette, June 5.—General Joshua Hodgins, 63, son-in-law of the late United States senator James Stephen, died suddenly last night of heart trouble. For several terms he was postmaster general of Wisconsin and was chief of the Marinette fire department many years.

Goodrich Tires in actual usage on road and pavement are today unfolding such matchless mileage, regularly in excess of adjustment basis, that Goodrich knows it has the strongest, most durable tires the rubber industry has produced.

The Goodrich adjustment mileage is increased because Goodrich knows the mileage in its tires, and it wants to give every motorist a share in their economy, and all-around benefits.

CUNNINGHAM RESIGNS
AS MANAGER OF CITY
HOUSING CORPORATION

H. J. Cunningham has resigned his position as manager of the Janesville Housing Corporation to assume the direction of his real estate and insurance agency. It was announced today. His resignation has been accepted by the board of directors, but a successor has not yet been named.

Mr. Cunningham was unanimously named head of the corporation by the directors March 31. He feels it imperative to give up the position in order to continue to act as secretary of the board.

Directors of the corporation, S. M.
Smith, president; F. H. Jackson, A.
E. Blum, vice-presidents; William McVicar, treasurer; H. J. Cunningham, secretary; J. A. Craig, J. P.
Cullen, R. G. Cunningham, and H. S.
Haggart, directors.

Several applications for the position of secretary were received and consideration will make a selection as soon as possible. Mr.
Cunningham will remain in charge
until his successor is secured.

The letter of resignation handed by Mr. Cunningham to the director follows:
"Gentlemen: When I finally accused to your urgent request to assume the management of this corporation, I made arrangements to give up all active connection with my insurance and real estate business.
While I was with some hesitations
I did this I was thoroughly interested in the future of this organization and took up the duties here with pleasure and anticipation. However at this time I am to be relieved of this active management.
"I am making this request for the reason that I have found it impossible to complete all the arrangements with you as a director. I shall expect to give freely of my time and effort to this corporation, but it is out of the question for me longer to devote my entire time here. I am,
"H. J. CUNNINGHAM."

on the lookout for a suitable location for the building.

The board also voted to renew the membership held by the organization with the Chamber of Commerce for another year. Also that the membership

U. S. EMPLOYS MOST ADVANCED METHODS OF TREATMENT TO RESTORE SOLDIER'S HEALTH

Portable electric stove used for baking stiffened and inflamed joints.

How would you like to be cooked for an hour or two every day when you were supposed to be convalescing? People usually think of convalescence as a period during which the patient sits around waiting to recover full strength. Judging from the photograph which was taken in one of our largest military hospitals the process of "waiting" is a strenuous one for a wounded soldier.

The Daily Novelette

Synopsis of preceding chapters.
Muggerby Biffbang is a dangerous criminal—a gambler for high stakes and a man mighty hard to catch because of his uncanny impersonating genius. The detectives follow him to a restaurant of under-world reneg-ades, surrounded by a dangerous counterfeit gang and two in the cellar.
They go in, only to find a waiter and several customers. They search and research the place, arrest the waiter, and find a hidden room. Muggerby Biffbang had been the very cook who had generously given them each a piece of dried apple pie and whom in gratitude they had let go. Things are getting desperate for the police force.
Several times they have burst into his gambling den only to find nothing;
no faro table, no roulette wheel, not even a deck of Old Maid cards. "Dear dear," then one day, Chinchilla, the pretty daughter of a Spanish sombrero, rushes into headquarters and informs the police of a dangerous counterfeiter. She has heard the clicking of coins and curses. But the police fly on the instant and it is only when they have gone forty miles that they remember they had forgotten to ask Chinchilla where the den was. However, they scour and find it and break in upon the counterfeiters with well-edged clubs and drawn revolvers.
In a quick moment they should be the leader of the band but the treacherous thug, Muggerby Biffbang, the great and dangerous gambler in millions, seizing the instant opportunity, they kick the whole gang into jail. But mystery of mysteries! The only thing they find in the junk are double-headed pennies. The plot is apparent in a second. The police are taken by surprise. The gang always played to win.
Very simple. The warden of the jail, asks each prisoner the same queer question, "Do you play checkers?"
Afraid that this is some sort of a trap they each say "No!" Very Vehemently. But Muggerby, when his turn comes, is so deep in thought, that his question deceives him and he says, "Yes!" The next day, all the prisoners are released but Muggerby who is given a year's sentence with eleven months off for good behavior.)

MIDV.
"Dear warden," asked Muggerby,
twenty years later, now a white-haired man. "Why, when my sentence was a year, have you kept me twenty years?"
"Because, dear prisoner, you were the only one who could beat me at checkers around here, and I've kept you here until I found an all-around bet moves," answered the warden, wondering why Muggerby had never asked him before.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Cecil Blount de Mille, the well-known director general of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, has a very well developed and expensive hobby. All of his spare time is given to it, which means that Mr. de Mille has become a competent airman and the owner of several different types of planes. He has taken up aviation as a sport and recreation just as easily as he took up the motion picture business.

He is such a well known figure in the sky road that Los Angeles, that every time an airplane is seen people say casually, "Oh, there's Cecil de Mille." He flies almost every day and he has made it possible for every one in the locality to sail through the clouds.

One dollar per mile is the regular rate for flying. The price established by Mr. de Mille and his associate pioneers in the field is based upon aerial transportation at the rate of 70 miles an hour. The price for an aerial ride to Pasadena is $12. It costs $10 to go up a mile or so and look over the clouds, and it is necessary to add another $10 or two to turn an aerial flip-flop. And at that there are not enough machines to accommodate the eager customers.

Although motion picture fans may not know Cecil de Mille by sight as well as they know Charley Ray or Bryant Washburn, yet they have all seen his pictures, such as "The Whispering Chorus," "Old Wives for New," "We Can't Have Everything," "Till I Come Back to You," and the many Mary Pickford and Gertrude Farrar pictures. His next one will be "The Admirable Crichton," which is the story of Sir James Barrie's plays to reach the screen.

BUT THE SPACER BUG GOT 'EM. The completion of nearly every member of the cast supporting James J. Corbett in "The Midnight Man," the new Universal serial, to act through fast thought, they would ever achieve that desire.

And this is why: Gentleman Jim Corbett's folk wanted him to be a lawyer. Kathleen O'Connor, Corbett's leading woman, thought she was doomed to work a telephone switchboard all her life.

Milton Junction

Milton Junction, June 4.—Milton has lost one of its strong characters in the death of Mrs. W. H. Morgan, who died at her home here, May 31, at the age of 77 years.

Lena Henrietta Moss was born Sept. 13, 1841, at Berlin, Germany. She came from her native land with her parents in the summer of 1845, and made her home on a quarter section of land which is now part of the 20th ward in the city of Milwaukee. Here she grew to womanhood and was married Jan. 23, 1868, to William H. Morgan. They began their house-keeping on a farm north of Milton Junction, where they made their home 27 years. Since that time they made their home in town.

One son, Benjamin F. W. Morgan, died in his eighteenth year, while attending Milton college. Mr. Morgan died Jan. 2, 1910. She leaves to mourn her loss an adopted daughter, Lydia M. Hull, the wife of Roy Hull, and many relatives and friends.

She was an active member of the Eastern Star and Women's Relief corp, also a charter member of the Missionary society.

George and Gertrude Stone went to Chicago, Saturday, to greet their brother, Leo, who has returned from overseas, also to see the parade, Monday.

Miss Dorothy Bept and Roland Rice were quietly married Friday evening. A wedding supper was served at the home of the bride Sunday evening.

Mrs. William Fulton is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Murray, Beloit.

Miss Helen Williams has returned to Chicago after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams.

DICE OF DESTINY

By JACKSON GREGORY
Copyright.

But he was once more himself, smaller, more meek, only a fierce hatred in his eyes.

"Gaucho, senior!" he returned, "I shall make you pay for that now in my own way. And now I ask another ten thousand dollars as ransom for the old man and the girl. Ten thousand dollars for a blow, senior! Do you care to strike again?"

Stanway shrugged.

"You have overplayed your hand, Torre," he said quietly. "This note from the senorita makes me sure of what I was beginning to suspect. Gaucho, come with me."

With no further word, leaving Torre's mystified face looking after him, he went out, Gaucho at his heels.

"Gaucho," he said, speaking swiftly from beyond the closed door, "I want you to come to the master's room. Bring some men with you—six, ten—I don't know how many we shall need. Let two of them bring axes. Let all carry side arms. Bring the picked men, Gaucho; the hardest men on the rancho. I think that there is going to be fighting this time."

"The master?" cried Gaucho. "The senorita? You know?"

"I know nothing. But I think—that they have never for a second left the house! Hurry, Gaucho!"

And Gaucho hurried, his own face as mystified as Torre's. Stanway went quickly to the bedroom.

"Somewhere in these great thick walls there is a passageway," he whispered to himself. "It runs from this room throughout the house and to the east wing where Teresa's rooms are."

"Somewhere, down below perhaps, there is a room, a dungeon. I think that it is just under the drawing room; I think that that is where De la Guerra is; that many of the things which Torre said were meant to be heard by the old man; that they might taunt and mock him; I think that Torre's men down there heard the crashing glass, the words which went with it. I think that we are going to find De la Guerra and Teresa there."

He studied the walls. There was nothing to hint at a secret door.

He moved out the bed, found the spot which Teresa's note told of, set his thumb to it, and saw a panel drop down, shelfwise, showing a great iron safe set in the wall. The safe was locked, the key missing. But he knew that he had found De la Guerra's bank. He closed the panel swiftly as Gaucho and his men came to the door.

"Que es, senior?" Gaucho asked quickly. And the black eyes of the dark-faced men thronging behind him—eager, expectant—told as well as words that Gaucho had whispered to his men that the American had a plan, that hope lay behind it.

"Come in, Gaucho. Shut the door. How many men?"

They entered as he spoke. He counted as the last man closed the door behind him.

"Ten, senior. Five more are coming."

"And—sternly—"you can vouch for them, for all of them? You can trust every man to the uttermost, Gaucho?"

"To the uttermost, senior," as sternly. "To the death in the service of the master and"—his voice breaking a little—"the senorita."

"And the other five?"

"The same."

"Good! This is my plan. Come close, all of you."

He addressed them in Spanish, speaking swiftly, his voice lowered so that the men must crane their necks and lean forward to hear. He told them of his hope that those they sought had never been taken out of the hacienda.

"Now," he ended, "there is no doubt a passageway running from here to the senorita's rooms. If we find this end of it and attack they may escape at the other end. So we must be ready."

"Gaucho, send two men into the senorita's rooms. Let them be ready, armed and watchful. Send two more to the stairway. Let Torre and Juarez be bound and watched over by one man only, a man whom you can trust and who will blow their brains out before he lets them escape."

"Let every other man in the house be armed and ready. Then—"

"Then," with quiet determination—"we shall find where the passage is if we have to tear down the walls. Hurry, Gaucho!"

Gaucho ran upon his errand, calling by name the men he wished to go with him. Stanway, bidding those with him to be very silent, not knowing what means the men he sought might have of overhearing what happened in the room, began a silent search for some sign of a passageway in the thick walls.

And now at last fate and the quick eyes of a vaquero aided him. There was a little scratch on the redwood of the wall just opposite the door through which they had entered, a fresh white scratch. It was Mendoza, a young Mexican, who saw it; it was Mendoza who found a mark of a greasy thumb upon the same panel, some four feet from the floor.

"Aqui, esta!" he muttered. "Senor, look!"

Stanway's heart beat wildly when he saw what Mendoza had found.

"The door of the passageway!" he whispered. "Sh! Be still! Even take off your boots, compañeros. We are going to give them no warning. But first, Mendoza, bring Dempton here, quick! I think he is going to talk now."

Mendoza hurried, and presently came back, he and the immense Vidal, walking at Dempton's right and left.

"Dempton," whispered Stanway, meeting him, "make no sound. If he cries out—to Vidal and Mendoza—if he makes a sound choke the life out of him. Do you understand, Dempton?"

Dempton's pale lips opened, but no words came forth. A little shiver ran through him.

"We have learned everything, Dempton," Stanway went on in his whispering voice. "Even to the hiding-place. There is the door." He pointed to the panel with the thumb-print upon it. "I think that we can send you to the penitentiary for a long time with very little trouble. Will you talk now, Dempton?"

Dempton hesitated, denial upon his lips, growing fear in his eyes.

"What do you want to know?" he asked in a shaking whisper. "—Oh, my God! This has gone further already!"

"I want to know how many men are with Torre in this thing?"

"There—there is Juarez—and—and—"

He turned a corner.

Stanway's command, bound Dempton securely once more, hand and foot, and tossed him to the bed as one might toss a sack of wheat. The men had kicked off their shoes and boots, and stood eager and expectant.

Stanway, his revolver in his right hand, pressed with the left thumb upon the spot in the paneling where another thumb had pressed.

PRESCRIPTION WAS WRITTEN 60 YEARS AGO

The True History of Father John's Medicine

One of the interesting places in Lowell, Mass., is the old apothecary shop on Merrimack street, established in 1827. This location is still a drug store, although of course modernized in many departments. The old prescription books, however, have been preserved and form an interesting record covering nearly a century.

Perhaps one of the most interesting books is that of the year 1855. On one of the pages of this book, that dated June 9th, 1855, is written the original prescription for Father John's Medicine. This prescription was compounded for the Reverend Father John O'Brien at the old drug store on that date, and was so successful in treating Father John's ailment, which was a severe cold and throat trouble, that he recommended the medicine to his friends and parishioners, in going to the drug store and calling for the medicine, they always asked for Father John's Medicine, and in this way the medicine got its name and was advertised. One day Father John's Medicine is a safe family medicine for colds, coughs, throat troubles, and as a tonic and body builder, because it does not contain opium, morphine, chloroform, and any other poisonous drugs, or alcohol, but is all pure, wholesome nourishment.

Dinner Stories

Nate Salisbury of the Chicago Post has an entirely new version of "the ain't no such animal" story, which he told to members of the American Press Humorists' Association while the convention was being held in the Windy City.

The "hero" of this yarn was a wobbly individual who stopped to gaze into the window of a restaurant where some proud fishermen had placed on display a large muskallonge, nicely mounted on a hickory trophy for some time, and then, as he turned to go, he put his whole soul into the exclamation:

"Well, the man who says he caught that fish is a doggone liar!"

A man from a bone-dry Arkansas community went to a wet Missouri town and was forced by an acquaintance to have a drink. In the saloon the friend asked:

"What are you going to have?"

"Have," dreamily returned the visitor, blinking at the glorious array of bottled and bottled goods. "I ain't going to have nothin'."

"What do you mean, Gab?" you won't have a drink after coming all this distance?"

"Nope," answered the Arkansawyer. "There ain't no such place as this. I'll wake up in a minute."

Sir Hubert von Herkomer, the well known artist, who died recently, used to tell an amusing story of a London art dealer. This man had two beautiful reproductions of the paintings, full reproductions of the paintings, "Approaching Storm."

"One of these pictures he placed in the show window, but it did not attract length, in order to draw attention to the picture, he used the words, "Approaching Storm," especially suitable for a wedding present."

EIGHT HOUR BILL BRINGS HEAVY DELUGE OF PROS AND CONS

BY FRED L. HOLMES
Madison, June 5.—The committee on education and public welfare of the senate took no action on the Skogmo bill providing for a ten hour day in the school. It was announced today that the action would be taken as soon as a full attendance of the committee could be had.
"Leave it to the large employers to be here to oppose every progressive measure introduced," declared Assemblyman A. R. McDonald, representing the railroad, firemen and engineers. "The railroad employers opposed the anti-coupling act, which was adopted in congress and is now conceded by the employers to be one of the greatest booms to the railroad business in the saving of life; they opposed the airbrake act, which has likewise saved many lives. The paper mills in the Fox river valley which have gone on to the eight hour basis have a larger output per hour and make more money than when they were operating on the 10-hour basis."
"I am for an eight hour day when it is made to apply to everyone," said Senator Stevens. "I am opposed to this bill because it exempts farmers, teachers and cannery companies. I believe that all should be treated alike."
J. H. McQuade said that the records of the industrial commission show that there were fewer accidents in factories working on the eight hour basis than under the ten hour basis. He declared that 95 percent of the men in industries wanted an eight hour day.
"I am not opposed to an eight hour day, but I think it should be by federal enactment," said A. L. Osborne, Oshkosh, representing the Northern Hardwood association. "We have to compete with states that would not have an eight hour day. The lumber industry is pressed hard as it is. Wisconsin has been referred to by President Roosevelt as the experiment laboratory of democracy. I do not want Wisconsin to be the fore runner of civilization all the time."
Among those who appeared in opposition to the Skogmo measure were John M. Olin, Madison; Joseph Poellman, representing the Master Bakers; Max Sells, representing the Florence Iron company; and Ralph W. Jackson, Madison, representing several condenser companies.
Appearing for the bill were: Senator George R. Skogmo; former Assemblyman W. A. Duffy, Bayfield; Miss Sylvia Dennis, Madison; and Glenn Turner, representing the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.
F. H. Clausen, Horicon, representing the Wisconsin Manufacturers association, said there was no need for the passage of the bill at this time. Senator Bilgren declared that even with the clause in the bill exempting farm labor, the measure would work a hardship on farmers. Mr. Jackson said that condenser companies should be exempted from the provisions of the bill. He declared that the measure in its present form applied to domestic servants and would hear from their wives unless some exemption was made. Mr. Olin said that he hired a man by the year and that this man worked sometimes whole days for him, but that under the provisions of the bill it would work a hardship.
Mr. Dennis argued that statistics showed that as much work could be accomplished in eight hours as in ten.

Savannah to Develop Municipal Terminal

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Savannah, Ga., June 5.—The city of Savannah has taken an option on 1,600 acres of the DeFord plantation tract east of the incorporation, with 2,600 feet frontage on the Savannah River, with a view to developing a municipally-owned and operated terminal and wharves. The plan involves about $200,000 initial consideration, which will be covered by a city bond issue if the people favor the development. The plan of operation of wharves and terminals will be along the lines of the enormous municipal wharves on the Pacific Coast and will involve an early outlay of around $5,000,000, with the ultimate expenditure far beyond that figure. The plan includes partial payment of the cost of building the wharves and terminals from the proceeds of sales of the extensive back property for industrial and factory sites.

REPORTS OF CAPTURE OF PETROGRAD DENIED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Copenhagen, June 5.—Persistent reports that Petrograd has been captured are "very premature," according to a statement from the official Estonian Press bureau.
A report from Estonian headquarters Tuesday says that vigorous Bolshevik counter attacks west and northwest of Gatchina continue, but have been repulsed by the Estonians. The battle is still going on without decisive results. Nothing is known at Estonian headquarters regarding the reported advance of Finnish troops against Petrograd from the north. West of Luga the northern corps of the Estonian army is engaged solely in repelling attacks. Southeast of Riga, Estonian forces continue to advance toward Kreitzburg, according to the report.

Mysterious Markings on Freight Cars Are Sure Signs of Booze

Chicago, June 5.—If while out autoing some Sunday you should be stopped on the crossing by a freight train marked "XXX," "23-23-23," "Buzz-z-z," "Heaven," or something equally as mysterious, you have stumbled on a warm clue. And the chances are a high-powered automobile will come racing along doing its best to crowd enough speed out of its twelve cylinders to keep abreast of the "marked" train.
For, let it be known right now, the mysterious markings indicate a booze-laden car and they of the speed automobile racing alongside are "whiskey thieves" who will follow the train until its stops, then help themselves to the precious contents.
R. H. Ashton, regional director of railroads, in issuing an order against placing of placards markings other than standard forms on cars, explained all about the whiskey thieves. A lookout where the train is made up spots the booze by the marks it, then goes on about his business. Lookouts scattered along the right of way of the railway watch for these markings, then when the chance presents itself raid the cars.

Don't Crowd, Girls; Here's Chance for Hubby

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
St. Louis, Mo., June 5.—Here's a good opportunity for a girl to get a model husband.
The following letter received by Chief of Police O'Brien from Walter H. Allen, 2642 Larimer street, Denver, Col., speaks for itself:
"Pardon me for writing a letter like this, but I am a young widower very lonesome for a good girl that is tired of living alone and would like to settle down."
"I am 33 years old, have dark hair and eyes, dark complexion, am 5 feet 5 1/2 inches tall, and weigh 180 pounds. I do not drink, smoke or chew."
"I can cook, sweep, wash clothes, iron, wash dishes, scrub floors and dress kids."
"If you know of a girl between 17 and 35 years of age, tell her to write to me. I do not care whether she is as homely as a mud fence, if she knows how to love and treat a fellow right. I have no objection to a woman with a smudge on her face, or a girl who has to work rather than one who does not."

Crepe Streamers Eaten, Mediative Goat Blamed

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Chicago, June 5.—They just can't believe it of that goat.
He seems like such a thoughtful, mediative goat, wagging his gray beard and rolling his innocent eyes. He doesn't look at all like the hardened character that would be standing at the front door of the house of a dead man and eating off the crepe streamers and the green wraith—wines and all.
Yet the family of the late Joseph Novak, of South Chicago, say that the said goat, the property of Thomas Delaney did stand and eat and munch the crepe as charged.
They reported the matter to Lieutenant Michael Morrissey and Lieutenant Mike agrees with the owner that no well-brought-up goat, especially an Irish goat, would do such a thing. It must have been some other goat—probably a bolshevik goat.

Badger Soldier Rescues German Child in Rhine

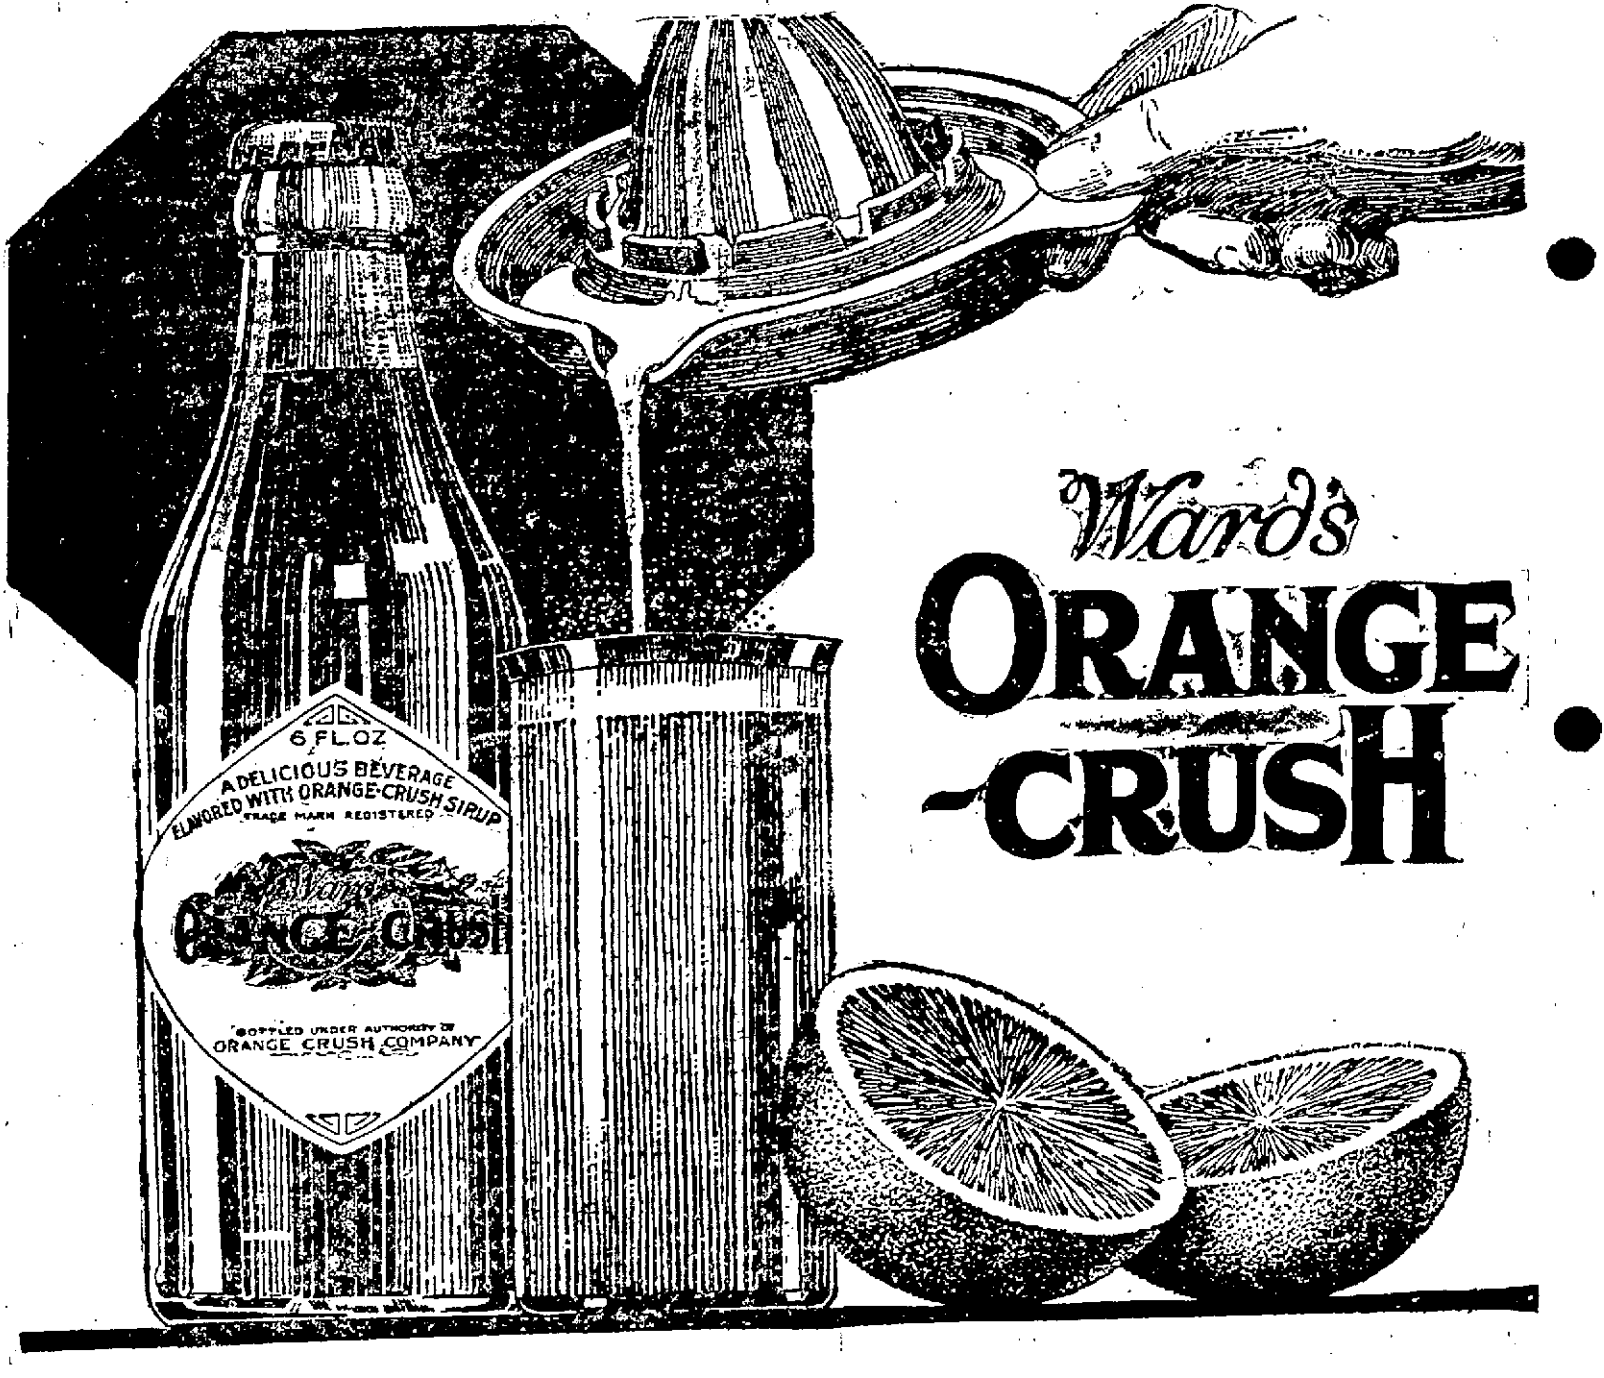

Madison, June 5.—A Milwaukee soldier, Pvt. Layton S. Oeder, in the army of occupation, was the hero of a rescue at the junction of the Rhine and Moselle rivers, according to the Amaros News, army newspaper, just received by the course in journalism at the University of Wisconsin from A. J. Fehrenbach, former member at the course and now of the staff of the Stars and Stripes of the S. F. Oeder, jumped from an excursion steamer and saved a little German child from drowning, while Germans stood by on the shore and watched the child's struggles.

STATE INITIATES FIGHT AGAINST CATTLE T. B.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, June 5.—Can tuberculosis among cattle of Wisconsin be totally eradicated? Commissioner C. D. Norwood of the State Department of Agriculture believes that it can. He has already set on foot the movement to clean up the state and free Wisconsin completely of bovine tuberculosis.

Not only has this first step been taken as a strictly Wisconsin measure, but it is the first effort made by any state in the union that really promises to bring about the desired condition.

Approximately 25 per cent of tuberculosis among children under 16 years of age is caused by drinking the milk of infected cows.

It would stop the loss of millions of dollars each year in cattle and hogs, it is estimated that the loss in hogs alone in Wisconsin in 1917 from tuberculosis acquired through following infected cattle amounted to $2,500,000.

There would be the immense gain over present profits in dairying and cattle raising resulting from being able to offer to the world dairy stock free from infection.

The state, taken by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture to eradicate tuberculosis among the cattle is the application up to a certain point of the method that has been so successful during the past few years in greatly reducing the ravages of tuberculosis among human beings. But the cattle plan goes a step farther and eliminates first of all clean areas wherein not a reacting animal is allowed to remain.

The law provides that the Department of Agriculture may test all herds in a given area, upon petition by a majority of the cattle owners in the area.

Hard luck follows assemblyman's heels.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, June 5.—Assemblyman A. M. McClone, of Outagamie county, has had his share of hard luck since he was elected as a state legislator. He had only been in Madison a few days at the commencement of the session when he was taken ill and sent to the hospital for a few weeks.

Ten days ago McClone asked for a leave of absence so that he might go home to plant corn. Speaker Riley Young has just received the following letter from McClone:

"Dear Friend: I ask for leave of absence during the rest of the session or at such time as I would be in shape to attend the session. The reason why I ask is that my barn was struck by lightning yesterday and burned to the ground and caught my machine shed, chicken coop, garage shed, corn crib and all burned to the ground, so I will have to start right away and it requires me to be at home. I wish you would have the clerk read this letter to the assembly so that they will know why I am not attending steadily."

One other member has had plenty of ill luck. Assemblyman Joseph De Per, Saxon, from and Vilas county, has been ill with pneumonia since almost the first day of the session. He was taken ill practically the second day of the session and went home. He has been unable to attend sessions and less than 10 members of the legislature ever became acquainted with him.

KOSHKONONG

Koshkonong, June 3.—Mrs. F. Lyon entertained her sister, Mrs. Charles Handy, Janesville, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson and daughter, Marjorie, visited friends at Kenosha, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Probst, Jefferson, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. C. L. Fogie.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Miller are back on the farm, having lived in Janesville since September.

Arthur Traynor went to Milwaukee, Monday after a box to help on the farm. He also called on Mrs. W. D. Fraser and family. Mr. Fraser was instantly killed, Saturday afternoon, when a train struck the auto he was riding in. The family has visited here every summer for several years and has several friends in Janesville.

August Lalk, Fort Atkinson, was in this vicinity, Thursday.

Five cattle men from Elkhorn were looking over the milking shorthorn herds here, Tuesday.

A number of farmers are replanting their corn, on account of cut worm.
